President's Message

Jeff Slagle President

Greetings to you all! I hope everyone is doing well.

First, let's delve into a piece of automotive history:

On February 21, 1937, the Arrowbile, a tailless, two-seat, single-engine, pusher configuration roadable aircraft, took its maiden flight, marking a significant milestone in aviation history. Despite initial interest from Studebaker, who ordered five units, the Arrowbile failed to garner widespread market appeal. Consequently, production ceased in 1938 after only a handful of units were completed.

Next, it's official: spring is right around the corner! In the charming town of Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania, nestled within the annual Groundhog Day festivities on February 2, 2024, and before thousands of eager spectators, Punxsutawney Phil emerged. To the delight of many, he didn't catch sight of his shadow. According to the age-old legend, this signifies that we're in for an early spring.

Spring? Ah, yes – the season of renewal is upon us! It's hard to fathom that spring is just a stone's throw away, with its promise of delightful happenings. As nature awakens, flowers burst into bloom, daylight stretches its arms a little longer, and temperatures begin their gentle ascent. It's that magical time of year when people eagerly step outside, ready to embrace all the fun activities once more.

And have you noticed? The days are gradually lengthening, with weather forecasts teasing us with promises of almost 70 degree temperatures. With each passing day, there's a bit more daylight to relish and a touch more warmth to bask in. Now is the perfect moment to put the finishing touches on those winter projects, give your cars a gleaming shine, pull them out from their hibernation, fire them up, and proudly display them for all to admire!

I cannot imagine a more perfect occasion to showcase our vehicles than at the 47th Annual Ellen McAnelly Memorial St. Patrick's Day Parade on March 16, 2024, starting at 11:00 a.m. This event marks the official kickoff of the parade season! With NAR proudly registered to participate, I eagerly anticipate seeing everyone come together to revel in the festivities and enjoy the day to its fullest. Let's make it a memorable start to the parade/car season!

Next, as a reminder, and very important, if you haven't paid your 2023 dues, please send a $20 check made out to "NAR" to Dave Robertson at 6503 Rolphmire Lane, Madison, AL 35757.

Additionally, 2024 AACA membership is due as well. The cost is $45 and can be renewed either online at <https://www.aaca.org/About-AACA/membership.html> or by phone at (717) 534-1910.

Lastly, I, again, would like to address how thankful I am for your continued support, attendance, and overcoming challenges to support the events.

I am looking forward to seeing everyone on Feb 22, 2024, at 7:00 p.m. for the NAR Monthly Meeting at 1806 University Dr NW, Huntsville, AL 35801.

Warm regards, Jeff

"Get a horse!" cried the skeptic in the early Days of motoring when one of the new-fangled Horseless carriages balked. They are still balking, But their four-footed competitors are rarely around to render help. Here, several members of the Antique Auto Club fill in for Dobbin when Hank Lowers' 1928 Buick Decides to be disagreeable.

TRANSPORTS

New car fever periodically seizes just about every American. But to a growing number of enthusiasts, the appeal of a new set of wheels is as nothing compared to the charm of an antique car or the glamour of a classic.

About 35 Huntsvillians, both men and women have formed the North Alabama Region of the Antique Automobile Club of America. Members locate and purchase rare old models (some of them mere hulks), scour the country for needed parts, spend untold time and money restoring cars to original appearance and mechanical condition, then proudly display their rejuvenated automobiles in shows. Their greatest joy comes just from having an antique or classic car, however, and many of the members here have more than one.

It is an expensive hobby. The smallest item in the cost of restoration is sometimes the unrestored hulk itself. By the time the enthusiast buys, begs or scrounges parts and pays for some restoration, the cost of renewing the car frequently exceeds the price of the vehicle when it was new.

Authenticity is an obsession with the antique and classic car bug. Even such hidden equipment as springs must be exactly like the original. To him, putting a new engine in an antique car would be as unthinkable as Converting Westminster Abbey into a bowling alley.

Special-interest subdivisions exist within the general antique car field which devote their enthusiasms to one make or model. For instance, two national clubs with total memberships of 50,000 are dedicated to the dependable old Model A Ford. Of the 4 million Model A's produced from 1928 through 1931, it is estimated that 400,000 survive, and a substantial percentage of the survivors are being pampered and preened by car club members.

Clear definitions set out by the Antique Automobile Club of America separate cars that are merely old from those that are antique and/or classic.

To be an antique, a car must have been made before 1930. Any car made from 1930 through 1935 is an antique production car.

Foreign cars are another class.

Classic cars are the aristocrats of the car world. To be a classic, a car must have been built in limited quantities before 1949, be an open car or limousine, distinguished in appearance, and bear an expensive nameplate. Typical of the classic cars are the Lincoln Continental, the Rolls Royce, Cord, Duesenberg and Auburn. Many Cadillacs, Packards, Buicks and LaSalles of the 1930s also qualify.

Ken Barry's 1927 Marmon Roadster

Dennis McCann's 1917 Cadillac Limousine

OF DELIGHT!

Represented here are two of the most distinguished names in American automotive history, Pierce-Arrow and Buick. The massive, luxurious Pierce-Arrow, left, was always recognized by the frog-eyed look it got from the headlights integrated into the fenders. This two-door 1927 Pierce-Arrow of Jerry Peoples' has the original suitcases still stored inside. The Buick, a 1928 four-door model, is the pride of the Hank Lowers household.

The basic car was the Model T Ford. Between 1909 and 1927, when production stopped, 17 million of the Tin Lizzies were made and the United States became a motoring nation as a result. To help cut costs and Make the automobile available to the average man, the flivver came only in black between 1913 and 1926. This four-door sedan belongs to Ernest Cross.

A forerunner of the hardtop was this 1917 Cadillac seven-passenger limousine belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Dennis McCann. The glass rolls down and the door parts come out to be stored under the front seat.

It has not been restored, but has only slightly more than 20,000 miles. Its V-8 engine is rated at about 72 horsepower, and its wheelbase is an astonishing 144 inches.

The best way to get the word out in many communities is to “Not” share a secret. Well I have one, and don’t tell anyone.

AACA is the best organization for enthusiasts of vehicles 25 years and older. But we seem to want to keep it a secret. Let’s get the word out in our communities about what we offer and not keep this secret to ourselves.

Our community’s history museum recently held a tour of mid-century homes and asked our AACA Region to provide cars of the period to be displayed at each home. The museum photographed each home with the period car for their marketing purposes. It was noted who the car owners were as well as being part of the local AACA Region. The local TV station did a short news story promoting the event and interviewed our region members about their cars. Region members were present with their cars on the tour day to answer any questions about the cars, just as the docents were there to answer questions about the homes on tour. And of course they were there to promote membership in the local region as well as National.

Many communities hold historic home tours and other historic event commemorations. Contact them and ask if your region can provide historic cars to supplement the event. Many towns hold new car introduction shows. Contact the promoter to see if the region can have a special historical vehicle display area. They may be willing to pay the region as well. If not a special display area, offer car dealers the option to have a historic model of their make of cars on display with the new cars. Just connect your region and AACA with the car display. Have a region member with the car to explain it and have membership applications available with that member.

Let’s get the word out about AACA and no longer be the best kept secret.
